Briefing Offer To Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department has offered to give foreign policy briefings to six presidential aspirants, a spokesman said Thursday. Press Officer Carl Barch said a "general over-all review of foreign affairs matters" was offered Wednesday by Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach to Robert Kennedy, Eugene McCarthy, Richard Nixon, Nelson Rockefeller, Harold Stassen and George Wallace. He said another avowed candidate, Hubert Humphrey, "is being informed in the normal course of events." Humphrey normally gets foreign policy briefings as vice-president.

Soviets Promise More Fleet Visits to Iraq

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The commander of the first Soviet fleet units to visit the Iraqi salt water port of Basra predicts there will be more such visits. At an official meeting with the Iraqi minister of state-deputy defense minister, Gen. Hamoudi Mahdi, the Soviet commander, identified as Adm. Hovrin, said: "This visit is the beginning of similar courtesy calls by the Soviet fleet."

Battleship New Jersey Draws Sendoff Salute

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Given a farewell salute by tugs and fireboats, the reactivated battleship New Jersey struck out for Norfolk Thursday to pick up a load of ammunition before heading for Vietnam. It was the third call to arms for the vessel, which saw action in World War II and the Korean conflict. Three small boats carrying peace demonstrators attempted to approach the New Jersey as she pulled away from the navy base pier and headed down the Delaware river, but coast guard and harbor police boats quickly herded them away. The New Jersey, whose 16-inch guns can hurl shells more than 20 miles, is now the only battleship on active duty with any navy in the world. Commanded by Capt. J. Edward Snyder of Fairfax, Va., she was recommissioned April 6 and assigned to the U.S. Seventh fleet to give U.S. forces more firepower in shelling of Vietnam. Two other battleships, the Iowa and the Wisconsin, also were in the Philadelphia mothball fleet, but the New Jersey was found to be in better condition. Overhauling of the ship cost $21.5 million.

Revisions Cause Delay in Urban Policy Adoption

AMES — Adoption of a highway commission urban policy covering municipal participation in primary road expansion projects has been moved back two weeks and will be taken up at the Iowa highway commission's May 29 meeting. The policy was expected to be presented at the commission's Wednesday meeting, but several wording changes made Tuesday necessitated more work by the planning office. The urban policy, aimed at achieving uniformity among all projects within municipal boundaries, includes right-of-way acquisition, placing of traffic signals and other projects. The commission has voted informally to no longer require that cities purchase right-of-way for certain highway expansion projects.

Working Day

For the chief U.S. negotiator, 76-year-old Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and his staff, Thursday was "very much a working day," Jorden said. Much of the time was occupied in preparing the U.S. position for resumption of talks Saturday. The spokesman could not say if Harriman intended Saturday to issue yet another statement such as the long one he made public after the Wednesday meeting. The talks, which on resumption will enter the second week, have failed up to now to reach the stage of negotiation. Each

Scarbro said the six decided to remain together at all costs — "We lay down together, we sat up together. We never separated." Martin said: "At no time did any man try to leave and make it on his own." Worst Moment The miners said their worst moment was when rescuers gave up attempts to drill a hole to them last Thursday night. "We never heard anything more for two or three days after that," Fitzwater said. "I thought they had stopped rescue operations. But all of us remained level-headed." The sixth rescued miner was John Moore, 46. The company physician, who examined them immediately after the rescue, said: "We didn't have to give out a single pill."

Youth Sentenced on Car Tampering Count

Steven Wayne Johnson, 19, of 1036 Nineteenth street SE, Thursday received a 30-day suspended jail sentence on a charge of injury or tampering with a motor vehicle. Johnson was arrested by Marion police, who accused him of tampering with a car belonging to Kenneth Sproston, 955 West Ninth avenue, Marion, late Wednesday. Municipal Judge Clinton E. Shaeffer filed the suspended term.

Water, Air, Noise Legislation Triples

CHICAGO (AP) — The various states in 1967 enacted more than three times the amount of air pollution control, noise control and solid waste disposal legislation they approved the year before. Commerce Clearing House said well over 100 laws related to such problems were passed across the country as compared with 35 such enactments in 1966. Laws provide tax exemptions, license credits and other incentives designed to eliminate air pollution. They authorized the formation of air pollution control commissions, councils, agencies and boards. State pacts also combined states into regional enforcers of rules on air pollution. Connecticut, New York and New Jersey approved their entrances into the Mid-Atlantic States Air Pact which would also include Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Municipal Court Actions

Glen Alan Redmond, 22, of 58 Twenty-first avenue SW, Thursday waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the Linn grand jury on charges of breaking and entering and possession of burglary tools. He was released on bond following his municipal court appearance, having posted 10 percent of the $2,500 bail required on each count. Bond originally was set at $5,000 on each count. Redmond was accused of breaking into Koch's tavern, 1100 First street SW, early Tuesday. Police said Redmond had a pry bar in his possession when they found him in his car shortly after the break-in was reported.

Allies Should Step Up War — Red Defector

SAIGON (AP) — A high-ranking Viet Cong defector said Thursday that the allies should intensify the war in Vietnam to improve their bargaining position at the negotiations in Paris. Lt. Col. Tran Van Dao, a political commissar who defected April 19, met conferees at a news conference under heavy armed guard of South Vietnamese soldiers and police. The guard was apparently to protect him against a Viet Cong assassination attempt. Asked what advice he would give the American negotiators, Dao replied: "The battlefield should be in support of the talks. There will be fighting and talking. The allied forces should be more active. The more successes they obtain, the better will be their bargaining position. The Viet Cong is weak and is in a bad position for the talks." Dao said he commanded a forward unit during the Tet offensive, which he described as the communists' "biggest military failure."

Two Questions

The snags seem centered about two questions: the U.S. "bombing and other acts of war" in North Vietnam and the status of the demilitarized zone, a six-mile-wide buffer established between North and South Vietnam by the 1954 Geneva conference. The U.S. wants the zone demilitarized all over again. North Vietnamese troops move freely in it, possibly divisions strong. The U.S. says it has no troops in the zone but bombards it to interdict the flow of reinforcements for the Viet Cong in the South. The North Vietnamese up to now have indicated that getting on to "other matters of common interest" will be unlikely unless the U.S. agrees, without seeking a reciprocal concession from Hanoi, to end all bombing, artillery attacks and psychological warfare activity against North Vietnam. That is how matters stand, while the bloodletting continues in South Vietnam. But experienced observers say it is unlikely North Vietnam would have sent a delegation to Paris unless it wanted to talk. Larger Issues Unless there is some way, however, of settling the basic

May Bring Break

Thus, while the two sides are engaged in stating what appears to be their minimum objectives before true negotiations can begin, and while each indicates a lack of belief in the other's statements, the realization that Paris may offer the only chance for a long time may yet bring a break in what now looks like a standoff. The American delegation suggests it regards all of what the North Vietnamese have done in the first week as the diplomacy of propaganda and deadlock, which attempts to appeal to world opinion and to opinion in the American back yard. The Americans say they are determined not to be discouraged by this and to plug ahead seeking some possibility of a meeting of minds.

Hereditary Type Cancer Found in African Family

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A social worker has tracked down about 400 members of a South African family totalling more than 500 to tell them they may have or may develop an unusual type of hereditary cancer. Mrs. Marie Torrington, of the comprehensive medicine group at the University of Cape Town, said the family is scattered through the country under at least 25 different surnames. Each person has to undergo examination of the colon for wart-like growth which indicates cancer will occur between the ages of 35 and 40. Surgery is generally a 100 percent effective cure, she said. "With the news I bring them, they realize they are no longer the helpless victims of what many regarded as a curse on the family," said Mrs. Torrington.

Rare Fish Displayed At Chicago Museum

CHICAGO (AP) — A living fossil fish called a Coelacanth was harpooned off the Comoro islands in the Indian ocean southeast of Africa Aug. 25, 1967. This rare specimen of prehistoric life is now on display at the Field Museum of Natural History. "It's like finding dinosaurs today," said Field Museum's Dr. Karel F. Liem, assistant curator of vertebrate anatomy. The three-foot-long, 30-pound specimen was donated by the college of medicine of the University of Illinois. Liem said it is an amazing example of a creature that has escaped major evolutionary change in 300 million years. He said it was the predecessor of land vertebrates that descended from the Devonian ancestors of this group. The fish has fins that are actually rudimentary limbs. The limbs have an internal skeletal arrangement which shows the point of limb development.

Asbestos Union Approves New 3-Year Contract

Asbestos workers in a three-state area Thursday at a meeting in Cedar Rapids ratified a new three-year contract which will pay their total wage-fringe hourly salary at $7 by May 1, 1970. The agreement calls for a wage-fringe package totaling $1.95 an hour over the next three years. The pact covers 150 workers in 35 Iowa counties, 11 in Illinois and three in Missouri. Asbestos workers, who had been on strike since May 1, will return to work Monday. Under terms of the agreement, asbestos workers will go from $5.05 an hour to $5.55 immediately. The wage-fringe rate will go to $5.85 next Nov. 1; to $6.15 May 1, 1969; to $6.45 Nov. 1, 1969, and $7 on May 1, 1970. Settlement of the asbestos workers dispute leave only the tile setters among the building trades unions without a new contract. They have continued to stay on the job.

Says Hard Water May Contribute To Longer Life

LONDON (UPI) — Hard water may be tough on some appliances but there are indications it contributes to longer life expectancy, a medical journal said recently. A survey published in the Lancet Journal showed a markedly lower death rate among people of middle and early old age in areas of England and Wales where the water is unusually hard. The lower mortality rates show up especially among sufferers from cardiovascular ailments, Lancet said. The study, carried out by a unit of Britain's medical research council, showed that water calcium — the mineral which makes hard water — "makes a substantial and highly significant contribution to the variance of the cardiovascular death rate... after allowance for environmental factors." The study expressed the need for further research into the so far unexplained phenomenon.

Patricia Coats Sentenced for Part in Theft

Patricia A. Coats, 21, of 1833 Fiftieth street NE, received a suspended sentence of five years at the women's reformatory at Rockwell City Thursday on her guilty plea to a charge of larceny. Judge Harold D. Vietor imposed the sentence and placed her on probation to the state board of parole. The Linn grand jury returned an indictment April 4 accusing her of larceny in what police have called a robbery hoax. She and two other Cedar Rapids young women were accused in the theft of $794 from the Collins road theater March 29. The charge stemmed from a break-in at the Mrs. John Hardy residence, 1123 Third street SE, April 29. Hall allegedly pried open a desk drawer, taking out a money bag and piggy bank, but left them when the owner returned. Federal Judge Edward J. McManus had imposed a suspended sentence on Hall on the transporting charge in October because he was handled as a youthful offender. That charge arose from the theft of a car in Oklahoma which was then taken to Waterloo last May. C. R. Man Denies Drunk Driving William R. McNeill, 31, of 215 Twenty-seventh street NW, pled innocent in Linn district court Wednesday on a charge of drunk driving. A Linn sheriff's deputy arrested McNeill last Friday. He said McNeill had been driving erratically on highway 94 northwest of Cedar Rapids before the arrest. McNeill is free on his own recognizance. Looking for something? Want to buy or sell? Court Orders Whitters To Pay Damages

Judge J. Paul Naughton Thursday found the Whitters Development Co. responsible for damages allegedly caused by mud and clay being washed onto three properties on Thirty-sixth street SW. Damages were awarded as follows: To Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Pierce, $763.25; Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Christensen, $662.24, and Theresa Kendall, $878.

Injunction in Bertram Villa Case Rejected

Judge J. Paul Naughton Thursday afternoon refused to keep C. J. and Virginia Nemecek from denying Kenneth Hamilton access to Kenny's Bertram Villa on Mt. Vernon road SE. The judge said Hamilton's request for a temporary injunction was not the proper remedy for recovery of possession in this case. The request came in an answer and counterclaim to a suit in which the Nemeceks have received a writ of attachment on Hamilton's personal property on the premises. Walter McNamara and Allan Kane, attorneys for Hamilton, told The Gazette it would apparently be necessary to file a separate suit for ejectment to gain possession. No decision has been made as to the filing of such a suit. Hamilton has contended he has taken an option to renew a lease on the property which ended in March and that the Nemeceks have refused to accept the rent for April and May. The Nemeceks received the writ of attachment on their contention that Hamilton has not paid the rent. In his counterclaim, Hamilton also asked $38,750 damages. He said the Nemeceks have removed his chairs and tables without a court order and that they have changed locks and turned off the electricity, ruining food in freezers and beer in coolers. Joseph H. Hall Admits Larceny; Given 30 Days A 20-year-old youth who is on probation from a federal sentence for transporting a stolen car across state lines pled guilty Wednesday in Cedar Rapids municipal court to a charge of petty larceny. Joseph H. Hall, jr., 20, of 500 First avenue NE, had faced a felony charge of breaking and entering, which was dismissed. Judge Loren M. Hullinger, jr., imposed on Hall a sentence of 30 days in the county jail, with credit for time served since April 29. The charge stemmed from a break-in at the Mrs. John Hardy residence, 1123 Third street SE, April 29. Hall allegedly pried open a desk drawer, taking out a money bag and piggy bank, but left them when the owner returned. Federal Judge Edward J. Court Orders Whitters To Pay Damages

Judge J. Paul Naughton Thursday found the Whitters Development Co. responsible for damages allegedly caused by mud and clay being washed onto three properties on Thirty-sixth street SW. Damages were awarded as follows: To Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Pierce, $763.25; Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Christensen, $662.24, and Theresa Kendall, $878.

Injunction in Bertram Villa Case Rejected

Judge J. Paul Naughton Thursday afternoon refused to keep C. J. and Virginia Nemecek from denying Kenneth Hamilton access to Kenny's Bertram Villa on Mt. Vernon road SE. The judge said Hamilton's request for a temporary injunction was not the proper remedy for recovery of possession in this case. The request came in an answer and counterclaim to a suit in which the Nemeceks have received a writ of attachment on Hamilton's personal property on the premises. Walter McNamara and Allan Kane, attorneys for Hamilton, told The Gazette it would apparently be necessary to file a separate suit for ejectment to gain possession. No decision has been made as to the filing of such a suit. Hamilton has contended he has taken an option to renew a lease on the property which ended in March and that the Nemeceks have refused to accept the rent for April and May. The Nemeceks received the writ of attachment on their contention that Hamilton has not paid the rent. In his counterclaim, Hamilton also asked $38,750 damages. He said the Nemeceks have removed his chairs and tables without a court order and that they have changed locks and turned off the electricity, ruining food in freezers and beer in coolers. Joseph H.
