Philippine navy headquarters said all 124 passengers and 52 crewmen were accounted for. Unofficial reports said only one person was injured, not seriously.

The ferry, the M. V. Fernando Escano, had just pulled out of the breakwater when it became involved in a collision with the tanker Cavite of the L.C.S.O. Stevedore Co. The latter sustained only superficial damage, reports said.

Soviets Ignore U.S. Version of Bomber Crash

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union Thursday reported for the first time the crash of a Soviet bomber in the Norwegian Sea that the United States said occurred while the plane was buzzing a U.S. aircraft carrier.

The brief report in Red Star, the newspaper of the Soviet armed forces, made no mention of the carrier USS Essex. It said only that the Soviet plane crashed "while making a training flight over the Norwegian Sea."

Red Star identified the pilot as A. Z. Pliyev but did not say how many crew members were killed. It indicated more than one fatality by reporting that the defense ministry "expresses deep condolences to the bereft families."

The United States said no survivors were found but parts of three bodies were recovered. A Soviet destroyer in the vicinity was notified and it proceeded to the crash scene and took the remains on board.

Transit Workers Reach Agreement

Sherman's Shell Finally Explodes

ATLANTA (AP) — A three-inch projectile fired by Sherman's Union army more than 100 years ago finally exploded in Atlanta Wednesday.

The projectile was found by workers who were cleaning a sewer only a mile from downtown Atlanta. One of the workmen gave it to Christine Hurt. "I decided to clean it up," she said. "I knocked some of the rust off with a hammer. And then I got to thinking."

Mrs. Hurt called a newspaper reporter who in turn notified ordnance disposal experts at Ft. McPherson. It was determined that the projectile was still "live," and the army blew it up — but not with a hammer.

Viet Detention Probe Ordered

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong has ordered the justice ministry to investigate the detention of the runner-up presidential candidate, Truong Dinh Dzu; a militant Buddhist monk, Thich Tri Quang, and several other monks.

He said he had directed that if the investigation shows no cause for their detention, they should be released immediately.

Schmidhauser Speaks Twice

Former First District Congressman John Schmidhauser addressed a American Legion-sponsored Memorial day ceremonies at Solon and Mechanicsville Thursday morning.

In both addresses Schmidhauser said, "With all Americans we commemorate on this day the memory of those courageous young men who have given their lives for their country. Our responsibilities to them must include remembering that the great constitutional principles which they have given their lives to preserve have served our nation for nearly two centuries."

"Perhaps the most fitting memorial that we can give for those brave men is our personal commitment to preserve and extend the constitutional freedoms they fought for. And we must recognize that any injustices that exist in our society which violate constitutional principles remain as a barrier to the fulfillment of the great ideals for which these courageous servicemen gave up their lives."

Waterloo Man Shot In Tavern Fight

WATERLOO (UPI) — A 29-year-old Waterloo man was hospitalized in critical condition Thursday as the result of a shooting police said was done in self defense and resulted from a long-standing feud.

Police said T. C. Thurmond, 40, Waterloo, turned himself in at a Waterloo police station shortly after the shooting, which occurred around midnight. They said he told them he shot Manuel Seenster, 29, Waterloo, four times after Seenster attacked him with a chair while Thurmond was having a drink in a tavern.

Seenster was wounded once in his right hand and knee and twice in the left side of his chest. Thurmond is free on $50 bond on a concealed weapon charge.

Abernathy Stresses Nonviolence; Militants Voice Tougher Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy has emphasized again that nonviolence is the guiding philosophy of the Poor People's campaign following a window-breaking incident at the supreme court building.

But more militant figures in the campaign talked Wednesday night of the possibility of bloodshed if the government does not respond to their demands for better welfare programs.

At a songfest and campaign rally, Abernathy said of the smashing of four windows at the supreme court building during a demonstration there earlier in the day:

Outsiders Blamed
"I did not come to Washington to break windows... I came to move the congress of the United States."
The Negro civil rights leader repeated his contention that the windows were broken by outsiders trying to discredit the protest movement.

Other speakers railed bitterly against the American system.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, manager of Resurrection City, the Poor People's camp of wooden huts, said "Capitalism as we know it... does not serve the best interests of the people... capitalism by definition has contempt for the poor."

The 26-year-old former college football player who has come to increasing leadership in the campaign also declared, "Either America will take care of the welfare of its people or it will force its people to say farewell to it."

Pallas, Iverson Are Elected to Robins Posts

ROBINS — Durwood H. Iverson was elected to the Robins council Wednesday night and administered the oath of office. The council approved Leonard Pallas as mayor.

Pallas, 28, will be sworn into office at the June 3 meeting of the council.

The action took less than an hour. No other business was considered by the council at the meeting.

Iverson succeeds Louis Frye who resigned May 13. Pallas will succeed John Drahos who resigned at the same meeting.

The council first approved Tom Pfeiffer for the post of mayor. However, Pfeiffer declined to accept the post, citing lack of time and experience for the job. He said he would have accepted a council post.

Following the meeting, opponents of a proposed trailer court favored by the majority of the council, discussed legal action which might be taken if the council proceeds with approval of the court.

The newly appointed mayor sat in on the post-council meeting. Iverson and the incumbent members, Mayor Pro-Tem LeRoy Vogt, Henry Rathje, Richard Taylor and Don Hayes, did not attend the second meeting. Vogt conducted the council meeting.

Pallas had no comment to make concerning the election or the proposed trailer court.

STRAWBERRY POINT — The swimming and boating area at Backbone state park opened for the season Thursday.

Co-ed Accused In Fire Deaths

COLUMBUS (AP) — A freshman co-ed was charged with arson Wednesday in the fire at an Ohio State University dormitory which took the lives of two young women.

Harriet Leeb, 18, of South Euclid, Ohio, was charged in the May 22 blaze at Lincoln Tower and jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The chief of campus police, O. R. Starr, filed the charge. Miss Leeb was taken into custody at the dormitory earlier Wednesday as a material witness. She lived on the 13th floor.

The fire claimed its second victim Wednesday with the death of Retta Foster, 22, of Colorado Springs. Her roommate, Pamela Sue Patterson, 18, of Ludlow Falls, Ohio, died a few hours after the early morning fire that broke out in a lounge near their 11th floor room.

Education Experts Are Due in Oelwein

OELWEIN — Oelwein Supt. Art Sensor said that a chief engineer from the U.S. Office of Education and an expert in portable classrooms will arrive here Wednesday to help Oelwein officials decide how to handle their school building problems.

The schools were hard hit in the May 15 tornado and schools did not reopen after the storm. Sensor said the men will also outline what federal funds are available for rebuilding. The schools were insured so some insurance money will be available for rebuilding.

Waterloo Man Hurt In Decorah Accident

DECORAH — Thomas Doughty, 52, Waterloo, is in good condition at a Waterloo hospital. He was injured when his car left the old stage road 3 miles east of Decorah Wednesday afternoon. Officials said he lost control of the vehicle and it skidded into a rock embankment. He was taken first to the Decorah hospital, then transferred to Waterloo. He has been charged with failure to have his car under control.

Southwest. Rudolph "Corky" Gonzales, read a poem which concluded with this word to the nation:

"Pay your debt with social justice or pay the price in blood."

Gonzales introduced some young Spanish-American "security guards" as "part of a new breed that are willing to fight for their rights and protect their women and children."

Reies Tijerina, a Mexican-American leader from New Mexico, charged America's poor have been oppressed by a conspiracy.

"This government is controlled by a few men," he said. "Now they want us to go and defend their crimes" in Vietnam, he continued shouting: "I would like to tell Uncle Sam, ladies and gentlemen, to go to hell!"

Police Brutality

Abernathy made no broad attacks on the American system but he accused District of Columbia police of beating demonstrators.

The alleged attacks came as demonstrators crossed a street on their way home after the supreme court protest. Deputy Police Chief J. V. Wilson said police arrested three of the group when they failed to observe traffic signals. Police denied there was brutality.

At the supreme court, the most militant protest of the campaign led to three other arrests after some demonstrators tried to lower the American flag in front of the white marble building.

Senate Action

Meanwhile, the campaigners made progress with one of their demands. The senate voted to authorize Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to use about $200 million extra funds for food aid to the poor.

But the house public works committee approved a bill that would prohibit any future campaigns on any public property in the capital. Sponsors said the measure probably could not become law before expiration of the Poor People's camping permit June 16.

Abernathy pledged at the rally, however, that the campaigners would remain as long as they had to — permit or no permit.
