Subject: Amended: Soliciting comments on the Customizable Mapping Widget and Mobile Webpage through July 2015

Amended to extend comment period through July 2015.

NWS is seeking user comments on the Customizable Mapping Widget and Mobile Webpage through July 31, 2015. The NWS Center Weather Service Unit (CWSU) in Fort Worth, TX (ZFW) and the Dallas/Fort Worth Forecast Office (FWD) in Fort Worth are testing a new Customizable Mapping Widget and Mobile Webpage service that brings together a variety of geospatial data products on the same background map for analysis and decision making. The version of the tool customized for the CWSU is a Google Map-based tool that contains many of the data sets necessary to provide the CWSU with the flexibility to create customized maps in service of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). The customized page will also be evaluated on partner smartphones as the un-embedded version of the same tool functions on a wide range of today's smartphone devices.

The Decision Support Map, along with a description of how to use the map, is available at:
